Did you know?

In honor of National Library Week, we would like to recognize the hard work of our district librarians. They open many doors for our students all year long.

In one year, our librarians:

- taught over 8,400 hours and nearly 20,000 lessons on 21st century information literacy skills
- attended more than 1,500 hours of staff development
- presented at several professional conferences, including our district Continuous Improvement Conference, Texas Computer Educators Association Conference, Texas Library Association Annual Conference, and Hill Country Library Conference
- hosted numerous authors, story tellers, artists, poets, and even reading dogs!
- sponsored dozens of book fairs, reading programs, contests, and other library events

Please take a moment to thank a librarian for all that they do each and every day!
